	The Crucifixion of Jesus                  B A Ramsbottom                  Gospel Standard Trust Publications	RRP £3.95
A large format hardback with many full page colour illustrations and a good, clear text. In nine short chapters the story unfolds step by step from the upper room to the tomb. It is told in a very simple style, understandable to children and interesting to adults. In fact this has proved an ideal book for parental reading and Sunday School use for children in the 5-11 age range.
	The Resurrection of Jesus                  B A Ramsbottom                  Gospel Standard Trust Publications	RRP £3.95
Beginning with the empty tomb this book naturally follows on from 'The Crucifixion of Jesus'. Short chapters deal with the separate appearances of Jesus including to the women, to Thomas and to Peter. Also the scenes on the Emmaus Road and in the Upper Room are covered, before the final chapter on the Ascension. Each chapter gives suggested scripture readings, and usually a brief application.

	Walking as He Walked                  J Beeke                  Reformation Heritage Books/Bryntirion	RRP £6.95 Offer Price £5.50 you save 20%
Slim paperback. Christlikeness is the subject tackled by Dr Joel Beeke in four addresses taken from 1 John 2:6. He focuses on what is learnt from Christ in the difficult pathway of trials. In a fresh and gracious way he opens up the sufferings of Christ and the inspiration of his example. In a consumer mad world, what is it to deny ourselves and take up our cross daily and follow the Lord? A Study Guide related to each chapter helps stimulate thought for personal reflection, or small group use. Not all will agree with every sentiment expressed – so here is the place to record it!

Christ Crucified – A Puritan’s View of the Atonement

Paperback. The most recent edition of 2002. It has been lightly edited by Maurice Roberts – mainly the explanation of words and phrases for the average reader today. Even so, it is by no means light and frothy! Charnock takes us into some deep and sublime truths, viz. Christ as the fulfilment of the Jewish Passover in the New Covenant, together with his willing subjection to the death of the cross. Practical applications abound, so this is not abstract theology.

On the Eve of the Atonement

P Trumper
Evangelical Press

RRP £7.95

In a gripping manner the story is retold of the last week in the life of Jesus before his crucifixion. The characters involved in the events of those last days are vividly portrayed: Judas, Peter, Pilate, Herod, Barabbas, Simon of Cyrene, the dying thief. Their part in all that was purposed of God to take place is well brought out, together with the eternal significance of the cross. This is a thoroughly good read from a well loved preacher who was forced to give up pastoral work in Wales after many years due to the onset of multiple sclerosis. However, in the providence of God it has allowed his colourful writing talent to come to the fore.

Breakfast on the Beach

Evangelical Press

RRP £5.00
(was £9.95)

Don't be put off by the title! This is the sequel to 'On the Eve of the Atonement'. Subtitled 'The empty tomb and the subsequent glory', once again Peter Trumper's sanctified imagination depicts the experiences of those who were witnesses of the most astonishing event known to mankind. The book has biblical 'backbone' enough to satisfy the reader who demands accuracy to the scriptures, and couples that with the great art of storytelling. We are carried effortlessly along to the final scene of the appearance of the Holder of the 'keys of death and of hell' to the Apostle John on the isle of Patmos.

The 21st century evangelical world has been sent reeling by the emergence of a heresy hitherto perceived to be the province of liberal scholars. It is the denial of Christ's real, personal suffering under the wrath of God for the sins of his people upon the cross. In the first part of this book the three authors from an evangelical Anglican background set out to make plain the positive teaching of the Bible upon the subject. To lay the foundation some Old and New Testament passages are closely examined. Then the theological framework is put in place, and the views of some major figures in the history of the church consulted. The second part consists of 'Answering the Critics', thus making the book very relevant though unashamedly controversial in the best sense. A must for pastors, elders and the concerned person in the pew. NB. It has an excellent review in this month's 'Banner of Truth' magazine.
